The Old Smithy

Shaw Lane, Albrighton

LOCATION

The property is located in the exclusive dormitory village of Albrighton, which lies approximately 5 miles northwest of Wolverhampton and 11 miles east of Bridgnorth. RAF Cosford is close by, as well as Junction 3 of the M54 motorway.

Albrighton village is well served by its own railway station, which is on the Shrewsbury to Wolverhampton line, complemented by a handful of nurseries and primary schools, coffee shops and bars, and a number of social clubs.

The property itself is situated approximately 800 yards from the High Street, in close proximity to a doctor's surgery, local shops and amenities, and the railway station.

The property is approached via a private drive off Shaw Lane.

DESCRIPTION

The property comprises a former blacksmith's shop/barn known as 'The Old Smithy', which is currently derelict and in need of full renovation, but does lend itself nicely to residential conversion, subject to planning permission.

The original detached single storey structure is of stone and solid brick construction beneath a pitched, timber frame and slate roof, having a concrete floor and 4 double door access points along the front elevation.

Outside, there is a tarmac area to the front of the building, which provides car parking for 2 vehicles and a small enclosed plot of land/garden ground to the side and rear.

The property is the subject of an unimplemented planning permission for residential development, involving the conversion and extension of the existing building to provide a 2-bedroom dwelling with associated driveway and gardens.

The historic planning consent allows for a hallway, kitchen/diner, master bedroom with en-suite, second bedroom and family bathroom within the existing footprint; complemented by a single storey extension to the eastern elevation to accommodate a living area/lounge, which opens onto the garden ground.
